1. We use cookies on our website

1.1 A cookie is a text file that is stored on the visitor's computer. Under the Electronic Communications Act, which entered into force on 1 July 2011, all visitors to a website which contains cookies must receive the following information:

- the website contains cookies;
- what the cookies are used for;
- how cookies can be avoided; and
- the visitor's consent to the use of cookies is required.

1.2 We would like to inform you that we use cookies on this website, westermarkanjou.se.

2. The use of cookies

2.1 The cookie does not contain any personal information. Instead, it helps us keep track of the browser so that it becomes unique or recurring for functions on our website and our statistical analysis system for visitor flows.

2.2 There are two types of cookies, permanent cookies and session cookies. Both of these types of cookies are used on the westermarkanjou.se website. Permanent cookies save a file on the visitor's computer for a longer period of time. This is used, for example, in conjunction with functions which inform the viewer of new items since the viewer's latest visit to the website in question. The other type of cookies, session cookies, are stored only temporarily during such time as the viewer is in, and surfing on, a website. Session cookies disappear when the visitor closes their internet browser.

3. Ability to avoid cookies

3.1 As a visitor, you can use your browser's settings to prevent us from being able to save a cookie on your computer. If you choose to shut off the cookie functionality, certain functions on this website may stop working correctly.

3.2 If you have a newer browser, it often supports so-called private surfing or incognito surfing. This means that all cookies are purged each time you close your browser.

4. More information

4.1 More information regarding cookies and the Electronic Communications Act is available on the Swedish Post and Telecom Authority's website.
